

"YOUNG CHIEF" TO HANDLE "THE COIN"

Hawes Selected as Vice-Chairman of Executive Committee.

"CASH" FROM ST. LOUIS

TOM WARD, POLICE BOARD SECRETARY, TO HANDLE ALL FUNDS.

City Hall Employees and Members Police Department Will Be Chief Contributors—"Billy" Flynn in Charge of Finance Committee.

Harry Hawes, vice-chairman of the executive committee.

Thomas J. Ward, secretary of the Board of Police Commissioners, treasurer of the state committee.

William J. Flynn, chief of the St. Louis, and bosom political friend of Mr. Hawes, chairman of the committee on finance.

The foregoing selections made by the Democratic central committee are accepted by the politicians as confirmation of the story published in Thursday's Post-Dispatch to the effect that the Democratic funds for the coming fall campaign would be raised largely in St. Louis, the chief contributors being municipal office holders and members of the police department.

From the source mentioned it is expected that $50,000 can be raised.

Kansas City and St. Joe will also be called on for "coin," while the rural districts will be let off comparatively free and the corporations may not be asked to put up a dollar.

However, this does not mean the politicians say that contributions from corporate interests will not be accepted.

The representative of any corporation is welcome to give the committee any sum and will be cheerfully received as the donation of his concern, but merely as an evidence of his loyalty Democracy.

Hawes as a Political Organizer.

With his appointment as vice-chairman of the executive committee Mr. Hawes has been elevated to state power and the politicians are referring to him as that "gifted young chief from St. Louis."

There is perhaps not another Democrat in the state who is so well thought of as a political organizer as Mr. Hawes.

This appreciation was clearly shown at Thursday's meeting of the state committee. All the members of that organization showed deference to the "young chief," and although he protested against not accepting the honor thrust upon him, his political colleagues refused absolutely to listen to his declination.

Seibert's Influence Was Evident.

But, much as the Democracy likes Mr. Hawes, their action in making Chairman Rothwell ex-officio chairman of the executive committee shows that they love James M. Seibert just as much.

Seibert was the boss at Thursday's gathering. Just as he dictated the program at St. Joe and secured the election of his lieutenant, William Rothwell, as head of the state committee, so he directed the business before the state committee.

He cautioned, he commanded, that George C. Orchard retire as a candidate for secretary of the committee. Orchard hesitated. He said something about being in the "hands of his friends." It was no use. Seibert issued his ultimatum and Orchard resigned.

That is one reason why Mr. Hawes' friends believe he was elected and possibly "thrown" by Seibert when Rothwell was placed above him on the executive committee.

Mr. Hawes is talking of resigning, but his closest friends have advised him to "stick." "Billy" Flynn, who has the reputation of being able to get anything he wants from the police department and Thomas J. Ward, who is the principal worthy of the police board during the absence of the board, will handle all the funds of the committee.

Committees Selected.

Outside of Mr. Hawes, the other members of the executive committee are: George C. Orchard, Poplar Bluff; W. T. Kemper, Kansas City; W. E. Spratt, St. Joseph; Virgil Conklin, Carrollton; Gilbert Barbee, Joplin; John M. Salter, Bethany; J. H. Edwards, Jefferson City; John C. Miller, Lancaster; F. M. Russell, Crocker; Thomas P. Mitchell, St. Louis; E. A. Buntin, Mayville; George Lee, Christian, Independence; Stuart, Columbia; Thomas B. North, Gray's Summit; Henry J. Fullam, St. Louis; Phil A. Shaw, De laune, Oregon; and L. H. McCarty, St. Louis; N. H. Smith, St. Louis; W. R. Brawford, Unionville; W. R. Bowles, Greenfield; Bruce Edwards, St. Charles; Sam J. McMin, St. Louis; O. S. Harrison, Kennett. Campaign headquarters will be opened in a few days at the Laclede Hotel.

After the Milk Inspector

Defective Law May Prevent the Bringing of Charges Against Him.

A heated debate took place after the meeting of the Board of Health Thursday afternoon between Health Commissioner Starkloff and Drs. Merrell and Chapman, members of the board, over the matter of preferring charges against the milk inspector.

The board had requested that the health commissioner prefer the charges, but the latter refused to do so on his own responsibility. He stated that he was willing to join the members of the board in bringing the charges, but that it would be a hard matter to make them stick, the law being defective.

Dr. Starkloff said he had conferred with the mayor regarding the milk inspector, and had told the latter he would prefer charges if he were assured the inspector would be discharged.

Dr. Chapman did not like the opinion of City Counselor Bates that Assistant Health Commissioner Francis had the right to preside over the board in the absence of the health commissioner.

R. H. MUDD'S GENEROSITY WILL RELIEVE SUFFERING.

CONTRIBUTES TO THE ICE FUND

Writes to Post-Dispatch, "You May Call on Me for $5 a Month Till Hot Spell Is Over."

The Post-Dispatch does not employ solicitors nor subscription lists in collecting contributions to the Free Ice Fund. Please send contributions direct to this office.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch-Included find my check for $10, my contribution to your Free Ice Fund. You may call on me for $5 a month until the hot weather is over this year.

This is the sentiment which, if it possessed all the friends of the Free Ice Fund, would provide sufficient money to carry this fine charity through the summer with proper prosperity.

In undertaking the distribution of free ice to the worthy poor of St. Louis the Post-Dispatch holds itself merely as the agent of the generous people of the city who believe in sharing their fortune with their less prosperous brethren.

The Post-Dispatch feels that if the people of St. Louis could realize the intense suffering of the invalid poor and the babies of such as are compelled to live in hot and unsanitary neighborhoods during the period of excessive heat, they would not hesitate to pour into the fund sufficient money to provide all with ice.

Contrary to the belief that ice is a luxury, physicians will tell you that it is an absolute necessity to all invalids and infants if they are to survive the heated term in this climate. Therefore, ice, instead of being a luxury, is a life-saver, and every person who subscribes to the Post-Dispatch free fund is engaged in preserving the lives of fellow beings.

Your early and liberal contribution to the fund will assist the Post-Dispatch in continuing this most worthy charity.

All you need to assure a monthly contribution? All subscriptions to the Free Ice Fund will be promptly acknowledged in the columns of the Post-Dispatch.

COLONEL SINCLAIR HONORED

Line Officers of the First Regiment, N. G. M., Will Present Him With a Loving Cup.

An adjustment of the differences existing between the line and staff officers of the First Regiment, N. G. M., was attempted Thursday night at a meeting of the former at the armory, but just what progress was made toward a settlement is a military secret.

Adjutant-General Dameron and Brigadier-General Clarke attended as advisors, and the meeting lasted until midnight.

When it was over, the only action made public was the decision of the officers to present a loving cup to Col. Clarence A. Sinclair, which is said to have distinct flavor of opposition to Lieutenant-Colonel C. W. Hittelman.

The lieutenant-colonel was closeted with the two generals for a few moments during the meeting, but what transpired between them could not be learned. No reference to the action taken in executive session was made at a joint meeting of field and line officers held later except the "loving cup" matter.

The committee appointed to purchase the cup is composed of Capt. John A. Laird, A. B. Donnelly, Woods and Lieut. E. L. Dorn. The meeting of the line officers was presided over by Capt. Edward Murphy and Lieut. Dorn acted as secretary.

CARLETON DEAL INCOMPLETE.

Joseph P. Whyte Says Sale Has Not Yet Been Effectuated.

Joseph P. Whyte, president of the J. P. Whyte Real Estate Co., stated Friday that the report to the effect that a deal had been closed by which the Carleton building had passed to the Germania Trust Co. is premature, and that so far no documents conveying the property have been executed.

The Germania Trust Co. and the Germania Realty Co., which own the Carleton building, are according to Mr. Whyte a considerable sum of money and the successful issue of the deal is contingent upon a compromise being effected.

Mr. Whyte also stated that he had made no terms with the Germania Trust Co. as yet relative to the management of the realty department, but admitted that he had a proposition from the trust company under consideration.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 1.—By a vote of 2 to 2 the park commissioners have decided that hereafter automobiles shall be excluded from the parks and boulevards of Omaha. The fact that children are endangered in the parks is one reason assigned, but the principal one is the number of accidents caused by runaway horses.

TWO TRAIN ROBBERS CAUGHT.

More Than Half of $50,000 Haul Recovered.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 1.—Two more of the robbers who held up a Mexican Central train and secured $50,000 from the Wells Fargo express car have been captured at Gomez Palacio, and nearly $3,000 has been recovered. The first train was captured by the fully identified as "Bill" Taylor, who held up a Santa Fe Pacific train in Texas and killed two men. He was sentenced to death for that crime, but escaped to Mexico. Fifteen thousand dollars were secured in the recent robbery was recovered from Taylor.

GIRL ROBBED BY BIG INCREASE IN STYLISH FOOTPAD LICENSE REVENUE

Placed Muzzle of Revolver Close to Her Face.

THEN HE TOOK HER PURSE

SEE SAW HIM APPROACH, BUT THOUGHT HIM A GENTLEMAN.

Miss Mary Passman Had Been Visiting Friends and Was Returning Home When Highwayman Accosted Her.

Miss Mary Passman, who lives at 2831 South Twelfth street, was held up at the muzzle of a revolver at 10 o'clock Thursday night and robbed of her purse, which contained $25.

She had spent the evening at the house of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Theobald, at Twelfth and Lamf streets, and was returning home. She had not gone more than 10 steps from the house when she was confronted by a man who pulled a revolver from under his coat and placed the muzzle of it close to her face.

"I saw him approaching," said Miss Passman, "but from the good clothes he wore I thought he was a gentleman."

"Give me your pocketbook," he said in a low tone. Miss Passman was too terrified to make any reply, and she mechanically handed the man her purse.

"Now gitt!" he said.

Miss Passman walked hastily down Twelfth street toward her home. After she had gone about twenty-five feet she looked around and saw the man standing with his revolver pointed toward her.

She then ran to the corner, where she met a man and a woman, to whom she told her adventure. Together they went back to the corner where Miss Passman had been robbed, but the highwayman was gone.

Miss Passman was too frightened to make any prolonged scrutiny of the robber, and is unable to give a definite description of him, save that he was tall, good-looking and stylishly dressed, and that he wore a mustache.

The neighborhood in which the robbery occurred is usually very quiet, and few persons are on the streets after 10 o'clock. Miss Passman sought a policeman, but could find none.

Parasites Cause All Hair Troubles.

Nine-tenths of the diseases of the scalp and hair are caused by parasitic germs. The importance of this discovery by Professor Unna of the Charity Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, cannot be overestimated. It explains why ordinary hair preparations, even of the most expensive character, fail to cure dandruff; because they do not, and they cannot, kill the dandruff germ. The only hair preparation in the world that positively destroys the dandruff parasites that burrow up the scalp into scales called scurf or dandruff, is Newbro's Herculide. In addition to its destroying the dandruff germ Herculide is also a delightful hair dressing, making the hair glossy and soft as silk.

PASS THE MILK BILL.

The pure milk bill, if passed, insure an efficient and honest inspection of cows, dairies and milk.

It places the work in charge of the city chemist, who is authorized to take drastic action against delinquent dealers. There is a practical assurance of thorough work in the admitted competence and faithfulness of the present holder of that office. He commands the public confidence. During the next two years milk inspection can be placed on a sound basis and afterwards kept there.

There should be no politics in this matter. Nor should the House of Delegates be influenced by the arguments of self-seekers who make money out of milk and adulterants sold to babies and invalids. The demand for the passage of the measure is unanimous.

The American eagle may be a bit jealous of the red eagle.

OUR STATESMEN MUST NOT SUFFER.

Things are in a bad way at the City Hall. Statesman Cronin and Statesman Sweeney have fallen out. Two new elevators are to be put in at the hall, and whether peace shall be restored between these able legislators and the city's affairs allowed to progress without interruption depends upon where these elevators are placed. It is now proposed to place them both at the north end of the corridor, and this is what has occasioned all the trouble. Statesman Cronin insists that at least one of them shall be placed at the east end.

The public should know, if it does not know, that Statesman Sweeney owns a grocery at the northwest corner of City Hall square, while Statesman Cronin owns one directly across the street from the east entrance to the hall. The position of the proposed new elevators will determine which way the crowds will enter and leave the City Hall, and, incidentally, which Statesman's gin mill they will pass in going and coming. If at the north, Statesman Sweeney's; if at the east, Statesman Cronin's.

How can the public go unconcerned about its business, watching the rise and fall of acts, keeping an eye on boodle trials and seeking to amass wealth as long as this great question is unsettled? What is a city government for, if not for the benefit of individuals? Let us see that this breach between two of our foremost citizens is healed and these elevators properly placed.

A railroad corporation can sometimes elect a judge as well as provide him with a free pass after his election.

VIOLENCE IN PENNSYLVANIA

The anthracite strike which for more than two months has proceeded languidly and without violence at least breaks out in lawlessness.

The remarkable fact is that the men behaved themselves as long as they did. It must be borne in mind that many of them are Hungarians and other hot bloods, brought here by the operators years ago because "they would work cheap," and who have little or none of the self-control characteristic of the American. That they have not broken bounds before testifies to the efficiency of the organization of the miners' union and to the ability of its management.

This desirable affair is the natural result of the operators' insolent refusal even to consider the demands of the men. They assumed a grave responsibility when they brought about a condition in the anthracite region full of dangerous possibilities.

The trouble can be terminated in a moment by one reasonable word. If that is unspoken there is no guessing what will happen before the end is reached. The arrogance of the operators is full of mischief to themselves, to the strikers and, above all, to the business interests of the country.

There are now six red eagles in the United States as a result of the visit of Prince Henry, but they are not going to multiply like the English sparrows.

JUDGE SEDNER AND THE MULE.

So eminent a jurist as our Judge Sedner has no right to endanger his life, even in an official capacity, by examining the head ends of two mules—especially Missouri mules, which are notoriously the swiftest kickers and the hardest hitters now in captivity.

Whenever in the course of his magisterial duties it shall become necessary for him to inspect the condition of mules belonging to a defendant in his court, in order that the fact may be fully obtained and Justice done, Judge Sedner should devote either a bullfight, the clerk of the court or the city attorney to make the required investigation and then report.

The public cannot afford to lose the celebrated jurist from whose lips such pearls of wisdom have lately fallen. We must reserve whole and unimpaired the brain which fires off so common-sense judgment with all the rapidity and precision of a Krug-Jorgensen rifle. We must not expose to danger, or permit to be exposed, the mind that laid down the principle that a wife has a right to search her husband's pockets, that a dog possesses the inalienable right of self-defense, and that swearing over or through a telephone is a misdemeanor entailing a fine.

In the interests of jurisprudence in general and the well-being of the community in particular, we should see to it that Judge Sedner shall not further jeopardize his life or limb by inspecting the heads of a mule at close range; for, however good a judge of men any man may be, few live to tell the tale who hang in the sound the depths of the inner consciousness of a Missouri mule.

What will you give to help a poor sufferer to a cup of cold water?
What will you give to supply ice for a destitute fever patient?

What will you give to save the life of a suffering baby whose mother is too poor to buy ice?

LOCATION OF PUBLIC BATHS.

In suggesting that the public baths for which plans have been drawn be located in the public parks, Harbor Commissioner Whye has lost sight of an important factor, namely, that the purpose is to place floating baths along the river front was made with the idea that such baths would save human life.
Bathing along the river front being lawful, the thousands of men and boys who live or work near the river will bathe there. If there are no bathhouses, they will continue to become victims to the swift current and the treacherous eddy. Frank Wisniewski, a 14-year-old boy, is the most recent victim. His life might have been saved had there been free swimming pools on the river front.

Of course, the city should have a complete system of well-constructed baths, conveniently located away from as well as along the river front, for the accommodation of all classes of citizens. But the first proposition, which was to erect pools along the river front as a beginning, should be adhered to, if only for the reason given above. When this has been carried out, we can talk about baths upriver and in the West End.
Harbor Commissioner Whye proposes that the baths to be built first shall cost about $400 each, and admits that they will not be handsome buildings. He suggests that, if placed in the parks, they could be hidden by climbing vines. The idea is not likely to become popular. The levee is manifestly the best place for these temporary cheap baths, as they will there perform their best use, namely, to save life. The parks should not be encroached on by unsightly buildings. And when it is feasible to erect baths upriver, they should be as fine as any in the West elsewhere. Why should St. Louis be contented with makeshifts in this or any other department of civic improvement?

Gen. Botha, Delaney and De Wet should not only come and study American farming, but they should come here to do it. It is not worth while to become deeply interested in their military exploits, bringing with them a host of their co-venturers. Why should they not be happier as citizens of the great republic than as subjects of an Old-World monarchy?

WHERE WOMEN VOTE.

Recently compiled statistics show that wherever women have the right of suffrage they exercise it as freely as men.
In Colorado in 1900 the registration was divided, 55 per cent males, 45 per cent females. The vote cast was divided, 58 per cent males, 42 per cent females.

In 16 counties in Utah there were 31,571 men, 23,728 women. Of these the vote was 23,728 men, 23,495 women. A greater number of men stayed away from the polls than women. In five counties where the males constituted 51 per cent of the population the women polled nearly 50 per cent of the vote, showing that nearly every woman voted. In Idaho in 1900 the population contained 58 per cent males, 42 per cent females. The vote was 55,086 men, 19,903 women. In one town alone, Boise, where the men largely outnumber the women, the latter cast 40 per cent of the total vote.

It is said that women do not want the franchise. Whether or not this is true, the fact must be admitted that where they have the privilege they use it more faithfully than their husbands and brothers.

One fact is worth a thousand presuppositions. No man can tell how an innovation will work. Only practical experience can afford conclusive judgment.

Over in Iowa Mr. McKinley is remembered, his reprobity is undorsed, and changes in the high tariff from time to time are declared advisable, but Congress is in favor of "doing" the American consumer as well as the Filipino.

The feminine spirit in the coal region strike must be very strong when a miner's wife has given up her home, her children and her husband rather than consent to the acceptance of nonunion work by her mate.

The African division of the naval militia has been getting more recruits, and some formidable tars will be ready to lay off whenever we shall have to defend ourselves on the ocean.

In the year ending June 30, Missouri and Illinois paid more than one-fourth of the nation's internal revenue. Uncle Samuel may well be liberal toward these two big contributors.

The Iowa Republican has adopted an emphatic anti-monopoly platform. It is a fact that men of all parties are skinned by monopolies.

The wonderful agricultural development of Missouri has had a great deal to do with American prosperity.

There are many blood spots on Pennsylvania prosperity.

Just A Minute

WITH THE POST-DISPATCH POET AND PHILOSOPHER.

LUCKY HEATHEN.

Once on a time—how long ago
Of very truth I dare not tell—
Sweet Ethel Jones had many a beau,
For Ethel then was quite a belle.

Then she was married to a man
Who wooed her in the softest tones,
According to the usual plan,
And dropped the classic name of Jones.

Though as a smiling debutante
She was considered chic and bright,
As matron (how some eyes do haunt)
She furnished even more delight.

And so, for quite a score of years,
She revelled in the petty fame
So priceless to the eager ears
Of every bright, ambitious dame.

But horrors! One sad afternoon
She caught a hair so long and gray,
So unexpected and so soon,
It fairly took her breath away.

Oh, Ethel wept, as well she might!
Yes, Ethel wept, as well she might!
And wailed and moaned till late at night,
Nor would her anguish soon be still.

Then, on a closer look, she found
Still with her once accustomed there—
A sign that age was gaining ground,
Though charming still she was, and fair.

"Oh," shrieked Dame Ethel, "I have read
About a woman's state of fate,
Who, in a tropic forest bled,
Have only learned to count to eight!"

"If this be true"—we must allow
The first question put to a barber by the state of the barber's head under the new law should be: "How would you comb a customer's hair?" and upon the answer to this question should depend his certificate.

Combing hair looks to be the easiest thing in the world, aside from spending money.

Yet not more than one monstrosity artist in a thousand has mastered this part of his business.

You may patronize a barber continuously for seven years, four times a week, and then, for the 156th time, after he has removed the scissor, he will start to part your hair in the middle or on the left side, when you have already told him 145 times that you habitually part it on the right.

"Other side!" you snap out, with some degree of irritation, and for the 145th time he walks around the chair and parts it crooked.

If you have the misfortune to be bald, or nearly so, the barber is assiduous enough in his endeavor to adjust the few remaining hairs to the best advantage, with the palpable purpose of flattering you into the delusion that you are not as bald as you seem to be.

It is the result that you are usually willing to give up a dime extra as a tribute to his delicate attentions. But if you are an ordinary citizen, with a full complement of hair, you can gamble on it for four times a week, and make big money, that the barber will approach it from the wrong side.

A man with his hair parted wrong feels as though he had his shirt on wrong side out, or that something else about his person was strikingly amiss. No barber should be granted a license to shave a man till he has learned to comb hair; for the combing of the hair goes with the shave, even as the tail goes with the hide.

A young Kentucky couple visiting at Cairo decided to get married because they missed their train home. Some day they may regret that the train was not derailed or otherwise delayed.

With Jimmie Handler drunk in the ring, John L. Sullivan drunk and disorderly outside of it, Joe Goddard fatally wounded at a ping place and poor old Fitz knocked out for keeps, pugilism and pugilism seem to be in a bad way just now.

A man who is half drunk can deliver a better temperance lecture than a sober one, just as a half heaven-born aspirant can deliver a more thrilling account of a knock-out blow than the unscarred fighter who has never felt it.

New Jersey, which ought to know better, in spite of her diminutive size, followed the example of St. Louis and introduced the system of voting "Indians" at her primaries, but citizens were inconsiderate enough to shoot a few of them the very first day.

Evidently there is something wrong with New Jersey methods. The first duty of an "Indian" is to learn how to handle a gun. No bullets, no ballots.

TO AVOID HEAT PROSTRATION.

When the dog days arrive the newspapers print, each day, long lists of people who have overcome the heat.

Insulation, or heat stroke, are alike serious. If the victim is not killed outright, the nerve tissues are so weakened that a state of partial invalidism ensues, which often gives rise to a complication of diseases.

Heat and humidity are not the only causes of heat prostration. While they are directly responsible, of course, indiscretions and hygienic errors weaken resistance, and prepare the way for a final collapse.

People must go about their business, whatever the weather; the machinery of civilization cannot be stopped, but by fortifying ourselves we can minimize the risk and danger. Here are a few precautions, which, no man should neglect:

Do not over-eat in hot weather, nor indulge in foods which you know will disagree with you.

Do not drink cold water, and do not drink beer.

For the same reason do not allow yourself to become constipated.

Alcoholic beverages of all kinds should be avoided. Alcohol paralyzes resistance, and causes capillary congestion.

The individual should bathe daily. The stinging and torment of decomposing perspiration makes one more susceptible. He should not stifle himself in sleep, nor should he allow himself to become angry or excited.

Keep cool, work under the most favorable conditions you can secure, and don't worry.

If every man whose occupation compels him to expose himself would follow these rules, the mortality from heat prostration would dwindle to almost nothing.—The Medical Record.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody's fruit into somebody else's yard.

The way to make a woman sure you love her is not to love her, but to tell her so.

When a woman reads a book with interest she always understands it if somebody will tell her what it is about.

It's curious how mad it makes some girls when a man kisses them and acts like he didn't think they were objecting.

Some men are so tactful they can get it is because they love her so much.—New

HE WAS WELCOME.

The boy in the boarding house was at breakfast, and was trying his best to eat his egg quickly so that he could take the only one remaining in the dish before any other boarder, who, he thought, had designs upon it, could appropriate it. He was a small boy, much given to using large words at random. The egg still rested in the dish when he was ready to eat it, so looking across the table, he remarked ap-prehensively:

"Is that egg occupied? If it isn't I should like to have it."

The other boarder smilingly replied, while passing the dish:

"If you don't mind, if it is you are welcome to it."—New York Sun.

ANKLE-BITING MOSQUITO SELECTS VICTIMS FROM BLUE BOOK

He Reveals in the Light Open Work
Hosier of His Prey and Chooses
Persons Who in Company Will Not Steep to Conquer.

Beware of the ankle-biting mosquito! He is the newest of St. Louis summer pests, likewise the most formidable, but, withal, the most aristocratic. In past summer the ankle-biting mosquito was unknown in St. Louis. Even this season his distinctive personality was not detected by the most discriminating entomologist until a few weeks ago. The scientist who discovered him admits that he is the most deadly insect that has yet added St. Louis to his happy hunting grounds. Such is his modus operandi that it is impossible to detect him until he has finished his exasperating work. But the distinguishing characteristic of the ankle-biting mosquito is his exclusiveness. He will not bite the madding throng. He will not insert his molars, or whatever he uses as a substitute, into the flesh of the populace. No, indeed!

Selects His Victims From the Blue Book.

He selects his victims mainly out of the blue book, though he occasionally honors a few persons whom Mr. Gould has overlooked. Only on one condition will the ankle-biting mosquito bite a victim. That is, when the person on whom he alights wears low-quarter shoes and open-work hosiery. The lower the footgear and the more breeze inviting the hosiery the busier will he get. So busy has he gotten in certain unfortunately fashionable sections of St. Louis that the residents are thinking of seeking distant resorts in a body or demanding that the 8500 appropriated by Councilman Hodges and his associates be used at once for the extermination of this particular representative of the mosquito tribe. The methods of the ankle-biting mosquito are simple but effective. He sleeps by day on the lawn or in the trees of shaded districts.

Is Inclined to Be Musical.

At night he picks out a porch, or piazza, or balcony where a merry party is enjoying the moonlight and the breeze. He prefers a party where the younger members are singing and playing mandolins or other wise employed to focus the attention of the entire party. Then he crawls swiftly over the floor to the nearest chair. From the base of the chair he jumps to the nearest shoe. Then he crawls carefully up the shoe, but if the leather carries him past the ankle he turns in disgust and crawls down again. If the leather stops below the ankle he is happy. He throws himself over into the soft surface of the stocking and tumbles about contentedly. If he finds that the stocking is of the close-knit variety, his satisfaction is short lived. He climbs back over the shoe and goes in search of new prey. When at last his up and down land him on filmy hosiery through which the velvet portion of the wearer's anatomy is visible, the ankle-biting mosquito is supremely happy. He pushes his mouth through one of the apertures near the ankle and bites. Then he moves in a straight line towards the opposite side of the foot, bestowing a bite in each succeeding aperture. Then he returns to the original starting point and makes the circuit around via the rear of the foot.

Always Sure to Make His Escape.

All this he does in an indescribably short space of time, and so deftly does he puncture the foot of his victim that the results are not apparent until he has crawled three or four chairs away and is painting a series of tiny red spots on another thinly-clad foot. With all his exclusiveness the ankle-biting mosquito does not much care to work as any of his brethren. He is careful to select locations where his repulses will be as few as possible. He is particularly Stylishly dressed girls, and men who wear Panama hats are his prize victims. Every girl who wears modish costumes, he concludes, also wears low quarters and perforated hosiery through which the delicate flesh is likely, he deduces, to be coolly garbed at the nether extremity. He also forms the deduction, and correctly, that in company persons of such social strata will not stop to conquer by a slap or a scratch on the paria affected. The situations, par excellence, in the ankle-biting mosquito's eye are, therefore, the places where parties of such young persons congregate.

Leads a Life of Perfect Bliss.

At the country clubs, on the more exclusive river excursions, at places that are near bodies of water, like the officers' quarters at Jefferson Barracks or the cottages at Meramec Highlands, at Delmar Gardens and at Forest Park Highlands, the ankle-biting mosquito leads an existence that is all ecstasy and bliss. For a month he has been busy with his maneuvers so shrewdly and clandestinely covered, and while his brother the face-puncturing mosquito, became the object of a variety of slaps and exterminations, the ankle-biting mosquito, on the other hand, has been able to keep his head down and his feet on the ground. The young ladies on whose fair and shapely ankles he has made such cruel ravages have owed his extermination, but they have not yet eliminated their gallant beau in the war against him. The ankle-biting mosquito realizes the situation. He is determined to spend his leisure moments in the realm of low quarters and airy hosiery and ankles until summer ends. So, beware of the ankle-biting mosquito.

FAILED TO SWIM CHANNEL.

Strong Tide Overcame Athlete in Sight of Goal.

DOVER, Aug. 1.—Hobben, who started at 6 o'clock last night from Cape Gris Nez, France, to swim across the English channel to Dover, was obliged, after a plucky effort and when in sight of his goal, to abandon the attempt owing to the unfavorable conditions. He was subsequently landed here. Hobben was in the water 19 hours and was beaten by the strong tide. He was still swimming well when urged to desert, at the rate of headway he was then making. It would have taken him 36 hours to complete the journey.

A Simple Way to Cure Any Drunkard Against His Will.

By using the new odorless and tasteless remedy, which is placed in the coffee or food, any drunkard can be cured. Anyone can use it without the drunkard ever knowing it. Every person who has a loved one who is a slave to drink ought to give them this remedy at once. Mrs. Samuel Boyd says: "With Golden Senné I cured my husband of drinking. I put it in his coffee and after that he could not drink liquor or beer to his health."

Write to Dr. J. W. Haines, 3771 Glance Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, and he will send you a free trial package which will show you how simple it is to use and how positive it is its cure. Full size bottle of Golden Senné for sale in St. Louis by Wolff-Willson Drug Co., sixth and Washington st.

ANOTHER ROLLED A HOOP

All Three Might Have Been Killed if Wagon, Which Was Three Hundred Yards Away, Had Struck Them.

"ARCHIBALD ROLLED HIS OWN HOOP."

Extra Special Dispatch.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 1.—That the Roosevelt children are indeed strenuous is proved by the following remarkable incidents in their hourly life, jotted down by a self-appointed chronicler of the wondrous deeds done by the President's boys:

6 a. m.—Teddy, Jr., actually ties his own shoes when he dresses. I saw him putting on his footgear on the back porch half an hour ago, and I know whereof I speak. He tied the laces in beautiful double bowknots, just as an ordinary boy does.

Kermit ate his own breakfast this morning. He didn't have to be fed with a spoon; he used a fork.

Archibald was out early this morning with a hoop and a stick. If the animal had run away while one of Teddy's feet was in the stirrup and the other in the air, the Roosevelt might have been worth half a column.

Teddy rode just like any other boy who knows a horse when he sees one. He didn't ride backward, like a circus clown, nor did he try it standing on his head with his feet in the air. He sat in the saddle, astride, and nothing happened. But isn't it marvelous that a boy of his caliber can ride a horse, same as a Rough Rider? How strenuous!

Kermit has just turned a somersault on the side-lawn while romping with his pet pup. If there had been barbed spikes in the grass, such as the Filipinos stuck up to catch American soldiers, the boy might have been hurt; but there was nothing of the kind. Kermit turned the somersault himself, without assistance from the man with the lawn mower, showing that he is in very truth a wonderful boy.

Archibald proved himself a little hero just now. A cottage's boy half a mile away fell into a duck pond. Archibald heard him scream and did not faint. He just kept on playing with the gardener's cat while the other boy was being rescued.

The three Roosevelt boys were photographed this morning from ambush. Teddy was caught in the act of eating from a ball of popcorn, and the picture will be of national interest, inasmuch as it shows that the President's boys are not without healthful food and are not required to eat predigested food to maintain his strength.

Kermit and Archibald were snatched together, while they were rolling down the front lawn slope, and the picture was taken for other boys to roll, but for these boys, who are just like other boys, it is something wonderful. The public is a devoted and interested in the rolling of the Roosevelts.

9 a. m.—A heavy wagon has just gone down the road in front of the President's home. Its wheels would have crushed any three of the Roosevelt boys had they been underneath, but as luck would have it they were 300 yards away. The hairbreadth escapes of these boys are truly wonderful.

SURGEONS HUMOR THE KING

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Optimism regarding the coronation is slowly reviving under the stimulative effects of the surgeons' bulletins.

Whether the King's will is imperious or his medical advisers consider it necessary to humor him, there is a determined effort to subject the patient, who is nearly able to make one or two turns on the deck of the yacht to the fatigue and excitement of the ceremonial. Motives of state prevail, although there is agreement among medical men that an ordinary patient would not be fit for so hazardous an experiment a few months after so serious an operation.

The business of selling seats is locking up now that the program of the coronation and the ritual are appearing, and the doctors here and there are touching up the faded glories of the June preparations.

Lindsay Russell has entertained the executive committee of the Pilgrims Club at luncheon, with Frederick Hollis, Consul-General Evans, Lord Charles Hareford and a few other guests.

This club is getting down to practical work with a membership of over eighty, about equally divided between Americans and Englishmen. It will not interfere with the work of the society, whose energies are expended on national festivals.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The attack upon the mourners at the funeral of Chief Rabbi Joseph at the funeral of Chief Rabbi Joseph on Wednesday and the clubbing by the police of hundreds of unoffending Hebrews has resulted in the formation of the East Side Vigilance committee.

This is to be a permanent organization, planned first to procure the punishment of those responsible for Wednesday's brutalities, but mainly to insure protection against police persecution in the future.

Hereafter when a Hebrew has just cause for complaint against the police, the Vigilance Committee will supply him with counsel, see that witnesses are subpoenaed and protect him from the intimidation frequently practiced when he is a complainant alone.

Broadway merchants will subscribe $50,000 as a starter for the organization.

A mass-meeting attended by 20,000 persons was held last night at which the police were denounced for brutality. Another will be held this evening at Cooper Union.

Mayor Low wrote to Police Commissioner Farbridge requiring him to make a thorough report of the occurrences of Wednesday.

A splendid carriage and horses were waiting him when his train pulled in during a rain storm. Pattison looked the rig over and said: "That's too rich for me to ride in; take it away. ## MOST INTEREST IN LIGHTING SHARES

TRANSIT SOLD AGAIN AT $31

Splendid Demand for Third National,
Due to Belief in Coming Important News.

There could hardly have been less genuine interest evidenced in a market than was shown in today's St. Louis stock exchange doings. Dealings were nearly to purchase's new job and the market presented an aspect similar to that of a Quaker prayer meeting.

The transactions were fairly firm, but, one house got rid of 150 shares of St. Louis transit at $31 without an effort. Afterwards the ordinary shares of the traction company were offered there.

For United Railways preferred the demand was not so strong.

A sharp demand existed for Laclede Gas stock, which was offered at $38.50. The offering of small lots of this stock was offered, a small amount being bid at $38.50, with $7.50 bid for the balance. The offering was extensive.

The Edison issues were suggestively quiet.

Among bank stocks there was a fine inquiry for Third National at an advance of $2 over yesterday. Before the close a number of orders were offered at $11, with more to be had and $13.50 bid.

A number of important rumors have been floating around the market, and the advance of late and the creeping advance noted in prices is regarded by the shrewdest observers as being the result of such news. As particularly significant of favorable revelations in the near future.

There is a feeling of confidence for some of the trust company stocks, but only two sales—Colonial at $21, the lowest figure on record—and Missions at $20.50, the same figure as obtained for it Thursday.

FARMERS SLEPT IN TREE TOPS

Boats Rescued Frightened Inhabitants of Submerged Territory—Rivers Falling.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 1.—No heavy rains fell in Texas yesterday, and as a result the situation is vastly improved this morning. Traffic of all kinds is now being handled by Texas roads with perfect safety.

Many spent the night in tree tops around Quinlan Tuesday night and were rescued with difficulty the following morning with boats brought from Greenville and Paris for that purpose.

Considerable damage to property resulted from the flood and the water was still over the Texas Midland tracks at Quinlan last night, but no lives were lost there. Rivers are still overflowing everywhere except in the extreme southern part of the state, where the flood is being augmented by small tributaries.

General Manager Nixon of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe states the loss to that road was $500,000.

The two days' cessation of rain throughout the greater portion of the state has given the railroads time to repair their roadbeds and with hardly an exception regular traffic is being resumed. The Texas & Pacific announced tonight that its line was open and doing business from El Paso to New Orleans.

Advices from Hillsboro are that the five hundred Mexican woodchoppers who were cut off in the Richland creek bottoms have escaped.

A stream of small change rattling on the floor awakened Samuel Sois Wednesday night at his boarding house, 1132 Locust street, and he saw a thief climbing out of the window with a pair of trousers in which Bois leaped from bed and fired several shots, which attracted a policeman but did not stop the thief, and the latter escaped. Bois had folded his trousers beneath his pillow when he retired, and the burglar slipped in and drawn them from under his head.

The coin rolled from the pockets as the thief dragged the trousers through the window. The police searched the neighborhood, but could find no trace of the marauder.
